Our project proposes an AI-powered automation bot that utilizes huggingface transformers to provide real-time translation of course materials lecture notes and class discussions into the student's preferred language